

Online Dating: The Psychology of Love Today

Did you know that 40% Americans use online dating to meet someone? eHarmony, a trusted dating site revealed that men make up 52.4% of the online dating users, in comparison to 47.6% women. This growing reliance on the virtual world to meet someone special shouldn't come as a surprise, given the hectic lives we lead today, which leaves little time to meet someone new.

In 2015, 50% of the US population consisted of single adults, which increased from 48% in 2011. While this might be a cause for concern, it is also good news for those who looking for love or companionship.

In addition, according to review site Male Health Digest, more and more people are opting for sexual health supplements to enjoy the time they get with their dates. They added that before choosing male enhancement products, even 100% natural ones like SizeGenix, reviews are important to understand the supplement's ingredients, side-effects & results.

Fast Facts about Online Dating

- One-third of people who have used online dating have never actually gone on a date with the person they met on these sites.
- Online dating is highly popular amongst individuals under the age of 25, as well and those in their late 50s and early 60s.
- In recent times, online dating has lost much of its stigma, where people feel it is as a good way to meet people as the offline mode.
- 5% Americans who are in a marriage or a committed relationship accepted that they met their partner online.

Importance of Online Dating

We live in a busy world where we are prompted to do everything online, be it shopping, booking travel tickets or even communicating with loved ones. And that is exactly where free online dating sites for singles come into play. In recent times, they have proved to be very beneficial, playing a prominent role in helping people find like-minded individuals.

Due to advances in technology, it has become simpler to find a suitable partner. These online dating sites take care of your preferences, including the qualities that you are looking for in a companion or date. They further search for suitable matches and present to you not a single person but a list, from which you can select ones that you are attracted to.

However, there are three basic benefits that everyone will agree with:

- You are able to find a lot of singles under one roof, which means a lot of options to choose from.
- It saves time and money that would otherwise be spent on real dates.
- You actually get to know the person thoroughly before meeting them in real life.

How Does it Work?

Joining these sites is simple too. All you need to do is register, create a profile and post your photos. More and more people are joining such services because through these sites, they can interact with many people and learn about their hobbies, nature and many more things. However, you can also join these sites for online chats and short term relationships. However, be careful about staying safe online too.

And in the meantime, if you have any concerns about your sex life, read the SizeGenix reviews and learn more about all natural male enhancement supplements to gain greater confidence and improve your sexual health.